Several pious families have contributed largely for the work.

We beg to thank the Banco Constructor de la Plata for its invitation to lunch to-morrow, on the occasion of opening the first of the new Police Comisarias it is building for Government. This bank has been thoroughly shaken off the effects of the doom of over-optimism of last June, and is again bowling along through a placid sea of prosperity that will give additional zest to to-morrow's champagne.

We learn that Mr Archer has been cleared out of his stock of Domestic Ice-making machines, and has cabled to England for more. These machines are the cheapest of their kind that has produced for a long time. The man who has them can sell them to any man can fill himself and his family with the coldest ice as long as he and they live, and then bequeath it to his remotest property, in the male line, as it takes a charge of dynamite to put these machines out of

The Tramways have another case of baby slaughter on their wheels. It occurred on Sunday in Calle Tucuari, and the little victim was only 17 months old. With her Electric Motor these painful accidents would be less frequent, and the cars would stop instantly.

FORGOTTEN. Forgetting to say, "I'm most in awe with all others else." Though few would care to part with me.

Their's fewer still that would me keep, never—a bed.

The fair makers at the La Plata Club all on Saturday night were so loth to bid adieu good-bye that they kept up tapping till 5 o'clock on Sunday morning.

The Duca de Galliera made a quick run at this time—19 days, including stoppage at La Palma. She brings 1000

The Junta de Montevideo has resolved not to allow any more pigeons to be reared in this city after the first prox. Bien." Pigeons are the most untrust-

A telegram from Sleepy Hollow says there was great public excitement there over full details of the railway accident there. One kind of "news" was that "the Sanctus distinguenda" had been smashed; but calmed down when details were published!! This telegram has an oddity: it is unhealthful flavour. The poor immigrants' lives are quite as precious—if not far more precious—to the country as those of an equal number of p.d.s.

"Who were of those husbands, my dear, who were in the morning, doing things around, and kicke like everything just because the coffee is cold?" "John," responded his wife, "I would ask it, I hope for you." As her words added more than one interpretation, she added, "I am not a fool."

Over six hundred persons were present on Sunday at the opening of the San José Aymán, at San Martín, founded by the good Mrs. Manuela de Gallardo and her son. Most of them were ladies. The Archbishop

The infant was "subsequently" served by the girls, and Mr. Leon Gallardo made the most eloquent speech, explaining how he was asked to undertake, with his mother's assistance, the good [work they had] just inaugurated, and thanking the distinguished guests for their attendance. In addition to those from town, many families from Moreno and other near districts attended this most interesting ceremony.

The opening of the St. Cloud Fete on Sunday in the French Hospital was a great success. The five gardens were two miles apart, and the children were asked to hold the crowd. Tombolas, races in the afternoon, and other amusements were provided. The most attractive of all was the Flying Chair, in which one is whisked up into the air and thrown again with a rapidity that requires a strong head and stomach to resist. The youngsters screamed with excitement and the adults were equally interested. The day apparently satisfactory results. The beachildren and a good many of the married men present home without the price of their tramway having coaxed and wheedled them from their bottom copper. The French girl is the most dangerous of all after male humanity at a bazaar.

The Asuncion Courts have condemned two Argentines to death for wilful murder. They are pretty sure to pay the full penalty, as the Paraguayan Government and people are not afflicted with the lawless and mistaken theories which punish punishment that prevail in some other parts of South America.

Lord Mayor Cranwell will be presented tomorrow with a costly album by the residents of the South and West of the city, in recognition of all he has done for those parts since his took office. We must say that such a gift is hardly so high a compliment. For the short time he has ruled the capital, his ceaseless energy has been on a par with that of even Don Torcuato; and his urbanity undoubtingly.
